

Palm Beach Equine Clinic: Veterinary Innovations in Wellington, FL

Palm Beach Equine Clinic (PBEC), a state-of-the-art facility based in Wellington, FL, is consistently at the forefront of equine veterinary science with the latest technology and talented veterinarians. At the start of 2018, PBEC furthered its dedication to advancing veterinary medicine by unveiling significant facility upgrades.

Among the advancements that PBEC recently underwent is the notable addition of a standing surgery pit, making surgical procedures more comfortable and safer for horses and veterinarians alike. Surgeries are performed while the horse is in a standing position and only requires the use of a mild sedative and local nerve blocks rather than general anesthesia. Continuing the improvements, PBEC now has a Computed Tomography, or CT Scan, machine, which gives PBEC veterinarians the unique opportunity to conveniently explore areas of a horse's body that they were not otherwise able to.

PBEC includes a team of more than 40 veterinarians, including six board-certified specialists in surgery, radiology, internal medicine, and beyond. The team as a whole has the talent and experience to treat some of the most prized equine athletes in the world.
