

New Coach Licensing Program

According to Equestrian Canada, all coaches will be licensed and certified through their new Coach Licensing Program by 2025. This program, which will be officially introduced at the EC Convention, is part of the collaborative agreement signed by the Provincial and Territorial Sport Organizations and EC last year.

In a statement, they said: "Our goal as an equestrian community is to continue to work collaboratively to ensure that coaches have the knowledge, experience, and skills they need to support our next generation of riders. Given today's complex sport environment we also need to ensure that we are doing everything we can to minimize unnecessary risk and provide coaches with the support they need to reach their full potential. The Coach Licence, along with the modernization of our Coach Certification Programs will provide equestrians, coaches, owners, organizers and the general public with an industry-leading approach to quality coaching."

AGRICULTURAL WINTER FAIR

A Royal Preview

The 97th edition of the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair will take place November 1-10 in Toronto, Ontario, at the Coca Cola Coliseum. A featured attraction, the Royal Horse Show boasts more than $980,000 in prize money this year, and hosts international drivers, jumpers, hunters, equitation, dressage and event riders. Plus, there's the Ontario Toyota Dealers Rodeo, with guest emcee Amber Marshall of CBC's hit show Heartland.

Throughout the run of the Fair, the President's Choice Animal Theatre showcases animals at work and play, including demonstrations by Spirit of the Horse, Medieval Times, President's Choice SuperDogs, the Toronto Police Service's Mounted Unit, and more.

The iconic RCMP Musical Ride will perform during all horse show paid performances Nov. 1st to 3rd and internationally acclaimed performer Sylvia Zerbini will demonstrate her amazing communication with her troupe of liberty horses during all paid horse show sessions Nov. 5th to 9th.
