Read-A-Thon

As we continue to social distance, and learn and work virtually, many of our favorite activities are on hold. While we can't get together in person, we have an opportunity to come together and read in support of a great cause.

Days End Farm Horse Rescue (DEFHR) is hosting a read-a-thon during National Reading Month in March. You're invited to join us for a month of reading, fun, and virtual challenges and prizes for all ages. The grand prize winner will have the opportunity to read to DEFHR horses in person. All pledges related to the read-a-thon will directly support DEFHR's horses.

The Feel-Good Book Club

Join our Feel-Good Book Club to discuss books that inspire us and lift us up. We will host two morning meetups, the first of which will be held on Tuesday, March 16 via Zoom to talk about the best-seller by Charles Mackesy, "The Boy, the Mole, the Fox and the Horse."

Featured Horse of the Month: Noble Nicholas

Five-year-old Quarter Horse gelding, 14.1hh

Though his beautiful cremello coloring makes him stand out, it's Nicholas' personality that captures our hearts. While Nicholas cannot have a riding career, he has so much to offer to a human family. He is instant best friend with everyone he meets—both horse and human—and he has impeccable ground manners. Nicholas is brave with obstacles and would be a fantastic agility or liberty prospect for someone looking to have fun with a kind and willing horse.

Email adopt@DEFHR.org for details on this lovable gelding.
