IN THE NEWS

Swaill's on an Upswing With Count Me In at Washington

THE CHRONICLE OF THE HORSE

Two years ago Ireland's Conor Swail was sitting in 59th place in the Longines Fédération Equestre Internationale World Rankings. He had a good string of horses but lacked a superstar. When the opportunity to take the ride on two talented grand prix horses, Count Me In and Vital Chance de La Roque, presented itself in 2021, Swail jumped at the chance, and his career has experienced a sort of renaissance ever since.

A Horse Rescue Trainer's Journey to World Equestrian Center - Wilmington

WORLD EQUESTRIAN CENTER MAGAZINE

To onlookers, HH Hadwin, aka Hadwin, seems like his pony peers. The 13.2hh pony-cross gelding – who competed at World Equestrian Summer III Show Series held August 10-14, 2022, in Wilmington, OH – is fit, his coat gleams, and he has a twinkle in his eye that is typical of many show ponies.

But Hadwin's path to the show ring is far from typical. He was once likely destined for slaughter before his journey led him to Days End Farm Horse Rescue (DEFHR) in Woodbine, MD, where his now-owner, Leigha Schrader, works as the organization's assistant trainer.

Teamwork and Consistency Result in a Career Comeback for Charley

THE PLAID HORSE

One of the greatest fears for a rider is that their once-in-a-lifetime horse will become injured. In 2019, this worry turned into a reality for Raleigh Tibbott who was thinking about retiring her heart horse, Charley. Before making that difficult decision, Tibbott decided to take Charley to Dr. Bryan Dubynsky of Palm Beach Equine Clinic (PBEC) in Wellington, FL, for another opinion. Although it took more than a year, the decision to trust PBEC with Charley's care ended up changing the outcome of his career as a performance horse.

EVENTING NATION

Early in October, Emma Saraullo's coach, Canadian rider Colleen Loach, raised a question. Would she be up for loaning out her 11-year-old off-track Thoroughbred mare, Renegade, for the upcoming Royal Agricultural Winter Fair show? Oh, and would she mind if Michael Jung swung a leg over for a spin in the indoor eventing?

This Organization Can Train Your Pup To Be a Helpful Therapy Dog

TODAY

One New York-based foundation has put the power of dogs to good use. For nearly 25 years, the Good Dog Foundation has trained and certified dogs to help individuals in schools, hospitals, nursing homes and more.

Based in the tri-state area, the organization provides dogs and their owners who are looking to obtain volunteer certification with four classes that focus on basic obedience as well as impulse control.

Harvey is of the organization's trainees. His owner, Nicole Lakin, knew he would be the perfect dog for the job when she saw him interact with a stranger in an elevator.
