Celebrating 25 Years

Spring II Competition Highlights

Christian Coyle and Ma Pomme de Tamerville, owned by IN Showjumpers, cruised to the top of the podium in the $25,000 Saratoga Grand Prix.

"The course today worked out perfectly for me," commented Coyle. "The footing was great, and the jumps were nice. This was our first show since the Winter Equestrian Festival. All four horses I competed jumped double clear so I was very happy."

Kristen Bumpus piloted Casper II, owned by Cat Mooney, to a repeat win in the $5,000 USHJA National Hunter Derby.

"Casper II is pretty much everyone's favorite in the barn because of his fun personality," said Bumpus. "The owner already has a bunch of people that have called dibs on him to live at their house when he retires. Unfortunately for them the owner loves the horse too much, and he will stay with her when he retires."

Joanna Seaver and her own Hope Valley were crowned champions in the Green Hunter 3'/3"3" division.

"I thought he jumped really well especially the first day," said Seaver who works at The Ethel Walker School with Linda Langmeier. "He's like my pet. I bought him as a six-year-old young jumper but I think he likes the hunters better. He is very easy going and is part pet and part sales horse."
